Compounding the State Sales Tax

You read on this page Monday that the City of Hope is going to protest the proposed levying of the state's 3 per cent sales tax against free service furnished the schools, parks, playgrounds and city operations by the municipal Water & Light Plant.

'Protest' is too mild a word—the city should take the State Revenue Department into court pronto if the proposed tax extension is actually levied.

Furthermore, if I were a city director I would have an attorney look into the business of illegal sales tax collected against the Hope municipal power operation in years past.

A former member of the Water & Light Plant Commission told me that he discovered the State Revenue Department was charging Hope 3 per cent sales tax on the gas consumed by the electric-generating plant—notwithstanding the fact that 3 per cent tax was being collected from consumers of that same electricity.

An angry protest from Hope caused the state government to drop its tax on plant gas—but not until thousands of dollars had been stolen by the State Revenue Department.

This was double taxation of the worst kind. The city no longer generates its own electricity but purchases power from Arkansas Power & Light Co. Nevertheless this old steal-out should be investigated and the illegal tax payments recovered if possible.

Hope's experience with double taxation at the municipal plant points up a spreading evil in the sales tax structure of Arkansas. The tax was originally levied only against the ultimate consumer. Now the state government is pressing extensions against middlemen and manufacturers. The effect of this is obvious. The sales tax is written into the cost of goods or services, and then pyramided against the consumer, who pays not only his sales tax but the cumulative taxes of all his suppliers.

Jack in 1935 I spoke for the original 2 per cent sales tax when it was on hearing before the House Committee on Revenue & Taxation—having campaigned for it editorially in 1933 and 1934.

I helped start this legislation, therefore I aim to do my utmost to keep it honest.

Talk about tax reform at the federal level—it doesn't hold a candle to what Arkansas is getting away with on the sales tax—sparing the rich and crucifying the poor.

Soviet-U.S. to schedule space rendezvous mission

By PAUL RECER

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Soviet Union is budgeting two spacecraft for a Russian-American rendezvous and docking space mission in 1975, officials say.

Glynn S. Lunney, the U.S. technical director for the project, said the Soviets will start by launching a Soyuz spacecraft with two men aboard. About 7½ hours later, an American Apollo spacecraft with three men aboard will be launched.

If the Apollo launch is delayed beyond the mission lifetime of the Soyuz spacecraft, the Soviets will have another Soyuz standing by for launch.

Lunney said the American spacecraft has a mission lifetime of about 12 days, but the Soviet craft, because of on-board supplies, is limited to about half that time in space.

The announcement was made Monday at the conclusion of two weeks of talks between American space experts and 22 Soviet scientists.

Boris N. Petrov, president of the Council of Interkosmos and head of the Soviet delegation, and Christopher C. Kraft, director of the U.S. Manned Spacecraft Center, said the groups completed a basic technical outline for the mission, to be called the Apollo Soyuz Test Project, and design work will start immediately on the hardware.

About one day after the Apollo is launched, Lunney said, it will rendezvous and dock with the Soviet craft. Two Americans will visit the Soyuz and then return to the Apollo for a rest period.

The next day, two astronauts again will visit the Soyuz. One American will remain in the Soviet craft and the other will escort a Soviet cosmonaut into the Apollo.

After about 48 hours of orbiting the earth together, the two ships will separate.

Lunney said the mission will be launched in the second half of 1975, with July as the current target month.

Teamsters Union swings to Nixon

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon returns to Washington today with the endorsement of the leadership of the 2-million-member Teamsters Union.

Nixon smilingly thanked and shook hands with Teamsters chief Frank Fitzsimmons and other members of the independent union's executive committee after it endorsed the Republican President's re-election bid Monday.

The Teamster president did not disclose whether there was any split in the committee vote, but a source said it was almost unanimous.

Fitzsimmons blasted Democratic candidate George McGovern and termed the break from big labor's backing of Democratic presidential hopefuls "unprecedented."

But a Teamsters historian later said that although the union had supported Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey and other Democrats dating back to Depression days, it backed Nixon's losing campaign in 1960 against John F. Kennedy.

In a prepared statement to newsmen at the union's conference and recreational complex 25 miles south of the Western White House here, Fitzsimmons declared that Teamster leaders "felt that the backing of Mr. Nixon was in the best interests of labor and the country."

Presidential press secretary Ronald Ziegler flatly denied as "untrue and absurd" a speculative Washington report that linked the Teamsters' endorsement with the early release from prison last Dec. 23 of former Teamster leader James Hoffa by presidential clemency.

The events were not connected.

In Washington, the Justice Department denied further that the endorsement had any ties with the department's recent decision not to prosecute Fitzsimmons' son, Richard, in Detroit on allegations of mis-handling Teamster funds.

All Around Town

The third area visitation of the 1972 season will be held on Thursday evening, July 20, at which time local residents of Hope will be visiting in the Sweet Home community, four miles east of Blevins on State Highway 24.

The tour will leave downtown Hope at 6:30 p.m. and plan to arrive at 7 p.m. for a dinner and fellowship with the citizens of the Sweet Home community. No program has been planned for this event.

This visitation is sponsored by the Hope-Hempstead County Chamber of Commerce.

Mary Ethel McKillion of Emmet has just returned from Los Angeles, Calif. where she attended the National Meeting of Future Homemakers of America. Mary is a member and president of the Emmet high school FHA chapter and was selected as one of 38 home economics students in Arkansas as an official delegate to the meeting.

No one was injured. Police identified the man as Everett Warner Wallace Jr., 22, of Richmond.

He was charged with bank robbery. U.S. Commissioner John F. Daffron Jr. ordered him held in lieu of $75,000 bond pending a court hearing Friday.

Wallace was indicted by a federal grand jury in Alexandria last November on charges of attempting to extort $10,000 from United Airlines in May 1971 and attempting to extort $100,000 from Eastern Air Lines in June 1971. The indictments

Destroyer damaged by underwater explosions

SAIGON (AP) — Two underwater explosions ripped through the U.S. destroyer Warrington in the Tonkin Gulf on Monday, causing heavy damage and injuring one crewman, the Navy announced today.

The salvage ship Reclaimer is towing the destroyer to the U.S. naval base at Subic Bay, in the Philippines, the Navy said.

The Navy said the cause of the explosions was not known and is being investigated.

"The ship reported some flooding in the engineering spaces which was quickly brought under control," the announcement said. It added that the exact extent of the damage was not known yet.

The Warrington at the time was firing at positions on the North Vietnamese coast along with the destroyers Robison and Hull. The three ships were operating in the area of Hon La island, about 20 miles northeast of Dong Hoi, one of the ports U.S. planes have mined.

Irish cease-fire feelers out

BELFAST (AP) — New feelers for a cease-fire in Northern Ireland were reported today after guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army halted their attacks in the bullet-scarred Lenadoon district of Belfast.

David O'Connell, chief strategist of the IRA's Provisional wing, said in Dublin that overtures for a new truce with British forces were being made. O'Connell, who led negotiations for the cease-fire that collapsed nine days ago, declined to elaborate.

British authorities would not confirm his statement.

Despite the hint of peace, 100 shootings and gunfights were reported across the province between midnight Monday and 8 a.m. Tuesday.

The British Army said soldiers hit eight guerrillas in gunfights in Belfast and Londonderry, where three big bombs caused heavy damage in the commercial district Monday.

Three soldiers were reported wounded by snipers. Two bombs blasted the predominantly Protestant town of Portadown, southwest of Belfast. One wrecked a tavern.

Protestant vigilantes and Catholic guerrillas battled in Duncairn Gardens, a no-man's land in North Belfast, the Army said.

The IRA Provisionals agreed late Monday to halt their bomb and bullet attacks in the Lenadoon area of Southwest Belfast. They yielded to demands from Catholic residents to stop shooting after the British army said it would pull out most of the 700 men it had stationed there if the guerrillas quit first.

Some British units were expected to withdraw today, after William Whitelaw, Britain's administrator in Northern Ireland, conferred with his security chiefs.

At least 29 persons have died in more than a week of fighting since the cease-fire ended. The army said 160 terrorists were killed or wounded, and the IRA acknowledged 10 dead and 58 wounded.

The IRA agreed to stop shooting after a secret meeting with Catholic citizens led by Father Jack Fitzsimmons, a local priest who had asked Whitelaw to withdraw the troops from Lenadoon.

Over the weekend, Father Fitzsimmons organized an exodus of 4,000 Catholic women and children from Lenadoon to protest the Army's occupation of the housing area.

Corona held in contempt

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Juan Corona, charged with the murder of 25 men, and his attorney have been held in contempt of court for refusing to supply a handwriting sample under court supervision.

Judge Richard Patten made the rulings Monday at a proceeding called for the purpose of taking a handwriting sample for the prosecution. Corona was fined $250 and his attorney, Richard E. Hawk, was given a 48-hour jail term starting July 24. Hawk said he would appeal.

Ransom:
beer, pizza

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A former mental patient armed with a shotgun and a butcher knife took eight employees hostage at the Bank of Chesterfield and demanded $500,000 ransom, a 1972 Lincoln Continental, a case of beer, two pizzas and a blanket.

After a three-hour standoff Monday with federal, state and local law enforcement officers — during which he telephoned several television and radio stations and threatened to shoot one of the hostages and take two others with him as he escaped — the man surrendered.

McGovern combines rest with strategy

CUSTER, S.D. (AP) — Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern, in the Black Hills of South Dakota for two weeks of rest and strategy sessions, has before him three alternative schedules and a detailed proposal for media spending in the fall campaign against President Nixon.

The outlines, far more detailed than anything the Democrats had four years ago even after the campaign was launched, were among the materials McGovern brought with him when he flew here Monday.

After an enthusiastic greeting from several hundred supporters in Rapid City, he drove south 37 miles to the Sylvan Lake resort area near here.

Aides said McGovern's scheduling office has prepared one outline for concentration on the large industrial states, a second for a campaign aimed at all 50 states, and a third for an attempt to combine the two approaches.

In addition, the aides said, a detailed plan covering media expenditures, both allocating amounts per area and specifying type of advertisements to be used, has been prepared for McGovern by Charles Guggenheim, the senator's radio-television adviser.

In 1968, Democratic presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey arrived at his Waverly, Minn., home after the party's late August convention to find that no planning had been done for the general election campaign.

Even while resting, McGovern had his eye out for strengthening the party unity behind his candidacy.

Within five minutes of his arrival at Cabin No. 22 at Sylvan Lake, the candidate was on the phone to Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley to thank him for Monday's endorsement of the entire Democratic ticket.

Press secretary Richard Dougherty said Daley, ousted from last week's Democratic National Convention in a drive led by McGovern backers, told the senator he and Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri are "a fine ticket" and he planned to "do what he can to help him get elected."

The next major step toward Democratic party unity is Wednesday's meeting of the AFL-CIO Executive Committee in Washington. Although top McGovern aides are keeping hands off, Eagleton is expected to see some of the union chieftans before that session.

Mrs. McGovern, delayed in Washington for personal reasons which aides said included a physical examination, is expected to join the senator Wednesday for a celebration of his 50th birthday.

MAYOR DALEY

Daley will back Demos

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley isn't mentioning Sen. George McGovern by name, but he says he "will support every candidate on the Democratic ticket, federal, state and local."

Daley, making his first public appearance since he and 58 delegates loyal to him were replaced by a rival delegation to the Democratic National Convention, issued his blanket endorsement in a statement read at a news conference Monday.

His statement did not mention presidential nominee McGovern by name.

Bobby, 1, Spassky, 2

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Bobby Fischer was back in the running for the world chess championship today, and it appeared that the fourth game might start this afternoon without the turmoil that has kept the match on the world's front pages for nearly two weeks.

The 29-year-old American chess whiz won his first game ever from world titleholder Boris Spassky on Monday and now trails the Russian 2-1 in their 24-game match. In seven previous meetings, Fischer lost five times and two were draws.

Spassky was at the chess board alone Monday when the third game resumed after the overnight adjournment, and referee Lothar Schmid opened Fischer's sealed 41st move, left with him the night before. It was bishop to queen six, and it put the champion's king in check.

Spassky sat for five minutes, turned his king on its side to concede defeat, and left the stage as the audience sat silent.

A few minutes later, Fischer arrived to mixed boos and cheers. He stayed only two minutes.

For the first time since the match was supposed to start on July 9, there was no overnight barrage of protests or complaints about the arrangements, threats from Fischer to quit the match and frantic negotiations between officials of the various chess federations and representatives of the players.

The fourth game was scheduled to start at 1 p.m. EDT today, with Fischer having the first move.

International grandmaster Isaac Kashdan, analyzing the match for The Associated Press, said the 29-year-old American's play Sunday "was the kind of game expected of Fischer after his extraordinary successes of the last two years."

Spassky "seemed to lack any aggressive ideas," Kashdan commented.

Fischer lost the first game of the match last week, and the second was awarded to Spassky by forfeit when the American refused to play because of the presence of three movie cameras in the hall.

The first part of the third game was played Sunday at Fischer's insistence in a private room, with the audience watching on closed circuit television. The game was moved back to the main hall of the sports palace Monday when Spassky said he would not play in the private room, and Fischer made no objection.

DR. WILLIAM J. CAPPS

Dr. Capps speaker at Hope Lions Club

Lion Dr. William J. Capps gave a report on his recent trip to Expto '72 during the Lions weekly luncheon hour.

Expto '72, held at Dallas, was described as a spiritual explosion and the beginning of a plan to evangelize the world and the delegates set a goal of winning the world to Christ by 1980.

The Cotton Bowl in Dallas was used and needed to seat over 75,000 Christian witnesses who met there. The historic meeting was sponsored by the Campus Crusade group who have been active Christian witnesses in colleges and universities throughout the country for a number of years.

Of the delegates who met in Dallas June 12-17 23,000 were college students, 38,000 high school students, and 14,000 adult laymen from all walks of life and all church denominations.

All 50 states and 75 countries were represented at this gathering. From the 75 foreign countries there were 1,500 delegates.

The days were long and busy, starting around 9 a.m. and ending at 11 p.m. The days were spent in study and in inspirational meetings at sixty five different conference sites in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

After his opening remarks Dr. Capps presented a series of slides showing different activities of the meeting.

The meeting was predominately youthful, non-

Miss Ellen E. Turner, of Hope, last Friday completed a two-week course in field ecology and conservation at the Audubon Camp in Maine, Medomak, Maine.

Miss Turner was one of 53 special students enrolled at the Maine Camp during the past two weeks and one of the more than 850 teachers and adult conservation leaders who, in all, enrolled in the conservation course at one of the National Audubon Society's four ecology workshops this summer. The other three camps, all staffed by outstanding naturalist-instructors, are at Greenwich, Conn.; Sarona, Wis.; and Dubois, Wyo.

Miss Turner's studies this summer provided an introduction to the ecology of the Maine seacoast and plants, birds, physical factors, animal, pond and marine life.

Identity of couple killed still mystery

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A Massachusetts family arrived here late Monday night to help police determine whether a couple that was shot, then set afire on a hill country road was their daughter and son-in-law.

Police Lt. Colon Jordan said Dr. and Mrs. John Connor of Worcester, Mass., brought dental records for use in identifying the burned bodies.

Jordan said the Connors did not plan to view the remains of the young man and woman.

The slain couple has been identified tentatively as Thomas Matzilevich, 21, and his wife of seven months, Kathleen Connor Matzilevich, 18.

The bodies were found about 8:15 a.m. Sunday by a caretaker at City Park, about 13 miles from here on Lake Austin, who went to investigate a black column of smoke. He found a blazing car with Massachusetts license plates and two bodies. An autopsy showed the young man had been shot three times, the woman four times. Each had a bullet wound in the head.

Tentative identification was made on the basis of the auto license plates and an identification bracelet worn by the young woman. The car was registered to Dr. Benjamin Matzilevich, a Natick, Mass., neurosurgeon, who said the car was in the possession of his son, police disclosed.

Young Matzilevich was enrolled at Texas Christian University.

Dr. Connor told reporters Monday night after his 11:30 p.m. arrival by plane with his wife and son that Kathleen had called his home about 9:30 p.m. Saturday and talked with her sister and brother. It was the third time she had called in a week, he said. She did not say where the call was placed, he said.

"In three days we'll know where the call came from. The telephone company is checking their billing computer," said Connor, who is school superintendent in Worcester.

Usually his daughter called home from the TCU youth center, he said.

"What we want to know," Connor continued, "is were they on their way down here (to Austin) when they were abducted? Were they here the day before and then abducted or did they stop somewhere and spend the night by the side of the road and ..."

"Oh, they wouldn't do that," Mrs. Connor interrupted.

Connor said neither his daughter nor his son-in-law had relatives or friends here.

GOP selects state slate

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Republican Party convened a special convention Saturday to complete selection of the state's 18 delegates to the Republican National Convention in Miami, Fla., next month.

The party's delegation, which is evenly divided between women and men, has three black delegates and four delegates under the age of 30.

During Saturday's session former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller was re-elected the state's National Republican Committeeman. He will attend the convention, as will Mrs. Leona Troxell of Rosebud, who was elected national committeewoman.

Mrs. Troxell succeeds Mrs. Lillian McGillicuddy of Little Rock, who retired.

Charles Bernard of Earle, the party's state chairman, will also serve as a delegate.

Earlier, county committees had selected eight of the delegates, leaving selection of 10 more delegates Saturday.

The delegates elected Saturday were:

Annie Zachery of Marvell, state Rep. George Nowotny of Fort Smith, Leona Troxell of Rosebud, Lee Priest of Fayetteville, Carolyn Rush of Pine Bluff, Dr. Milton Lubin of Marvell and Vicki Isley of Morrilton.

Chosen previously were: Keith Rutledge of Batesville, Bonnie Libhart of Jonesboro, Sam Sparks of Little Rock, Phyllis Kincannon of North Little Rock, Jim McWhorter of Springdale, Ada Mills of Clarksville, Odie Richmond of Pine Bluff and Jerri Pruden of Hope.

Juror refuses to confide in judge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An aerospace engineer, eligible to be a juror in the Pentagon Papers trial, refused to tell the judge about his top secret work in a group nicknamed "The 007 Division."

"It's still top secret," Terrence Meadows said when quizzed Monday about his work at North American Rockwell Corp. He revealed only that it concerned "a defense project."

The engineering manager drew titters from the audience when he said the division had been nicknamed after the code name for fictional superspy James Bond.

Despite vehement defense objections since jury selection began last week, U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne remained steadfast in his refusal to dismiss for cause potential jurors who hold security clearances in their jobs.

The latest move by lawyers for Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo was to file affidavits by two former government officials and a onetime government researcher backing their claims about clearances.

The statements said persons in security jobs would be biased toward the government and would fear losing their jobs if they voted for acquittal.

Ellsberg, 41, and Russo, 35, both former Rand Corp. researchers on government projects, are charged with espionage, conspiracy and theft in connection with the leak to news media of the Pentagon Papers-top secret studies of U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war.

Morton H. Halperin, a former deputy assistant secretary of defense and National Security Council staff member, said in his statement, "A juror with a clearance will be under great pressure not to condone a violation of the procedures which he has been trained to follow."

Such jurors, the defense contended, would draw on their own knowledge of security regulations, even if they did not apply in the case.

Byrne, agreeing to quiz the security-cleared potential jurors more thoroughly, spent most of Monday talking to some of them.

Meadows, who has held security clearances since 1956, said he has had repeated briefings over the years on the handling of secret documents. When projects ended he said, he was de-briefed, adding, "I was to say nothing more than what I said today."

Democrats to be asked to be 'soldiers'

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Wealthy California Democrats who battled George McGovern in the spring will be invited to enlist as "foot soldiers" in his fall presidential campaign, a McGovern leader says.

"They will not be asked just to participate with their money," said Willie L. Brown Jr. in an interview, "but to figuratively and literally ring doorbells and man telephones, just as everyone else has done."

"It's going to be a new experience for all these wealthy people," added Brown, the 38-year-old chairman of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee who was the dominant leader of the California delegation at the Democratic National Convention in Miami Beach last week.

Aid to elderly approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — An additional $1.5 billion for programs to aid the country's elderly has been approved by the House of Representatives.

The vote was 351 to 3 Monday. The bill now goes to the Senate.

The funds will be appropriated over three years, with $335 million for the current fiscal year, $510 million for 1974 and $683 million for 1975. Emphasis will be on programs designed to provide economic and personal independence for older Americans.

The measure provides for a National Information and Resource Center for the Aging and appropriates $35 million for multipurpose senior centers.

Some $225 million will go for special impact programs to improve housing, transportation, employment education and pre-retirement training.

A portion of the funds will be distributed to the states on the basis of the percentage of population over age 60.

Mexican theme is used

A sarape, a sombrero and a pair of boots were so arranged as to give the appearance of a sleeping Mexican for the focal point of interest at the Douglas Building Thursday night, July 13, when Circle 5, WSCS, of the First United Methodist Church had a Mexican supper meeting and fellowship.

Brightly colored flowers and Mexican lanterns added to the theme, and the buffet table held an assortment of foods with a south-of-the-border flavor.

Hostesses were Mrs. Lee Still, Mrs. H.L. Townsend, Mrs. Bob Parham and Mrs. A.W. McIver. Circle Chairman, Mrs. Calvin Smith, welcomed the 10 members and one guest, Mrs. Norris Steele.

Homemakers club meets

The Shover Springs Extension Homemakers Club met July 13 in the home of Mrs. Charles Burch, president, who presided at the meeting. Mrs. Homer Poindexter led in singing "Near the Cross."

Mrs. Burch gave the devotion, and Mrs. Gene Dillard gave the lesson about fish. Mrs. Dillard also called the roll, which was answered by 8 members telling how they cook seafood.

Mrs. Burch read a poem called "Success." A picnic was planned for August 10 at the Fair Park. The meeting was closed by everyone reading The Homemakers Prayer.

Refreshments of pineapple upside down cake and chocolate cake with whipped cream were served. The next meeting will be the picnic at Fair Park.

Mexican tourists spent $183.2 million abroad in 1971.

THE GENERATION RAP

—by Helen and Sue Bottel

When Taste Makes Waste
Dear Helen A nd Sue:

I have an older relative who is always giving me clothes for birthday and Christmas presents. Sometimes they're okay but sometimes they aren't. She says feel free to exchange them, but my Mom doesn't want to hurt her feelings, so she makes me wear them—especially when we're around Aunt Amy (The relative) which is quite a bit. Aunt THINKS her taste is the greatest.

Now it comes to the latest present—a dress that looks cruddy on me. Mom says I have to wear it to a family reunion in August, and there's this second cousin who will be there and he's a doll. I don't want to look and feel dumb around him.—MUST I?

Dear Must:
Trouble with older relatives is they often don't realize little nieces become big girls who like to pick out their own clothes.

Trouble with your mother is she hasn't told Aunt Amy this fact of life.

When Aunt's "taste makes waste" (or misery, if you're forced to wear the dress), I vote for an exchange. You can soften the blow by telling her the fit isn't right; and won't she please come along to help with a new selection?—Helen

Dear Must I:

...Which will either be an eye-opener for her (to your taste) or an eyebrow-raiser (that you should be so "tasteless").

Anyway, I'm sure Aunt Amy would much rather you have presents you would use and enjoy than ones you'd like to throw in a corner and forget. After all, she SAYS, "Feel free to exchange them."—SUE

Dear Rap:
At 19, our daughter moved into her own apartment, after getting a full time job.

Now she intends to get married and I'd like to know: When she moved out against our wishes, should we pay for her wedding?—MOTHER OF MANY

Dear Mother of Many:

How can you hold a grudge when your daughter only wanted to be on her own?

If it's the marriage you're against, then you have a right to question: if you're holding back to get even—well it's still your right. She probably wouldn't want her parents forking over money for something or someone they resent. Straighten out your hassles first and then discuss the wedding.—SUE

Dear Mother of Many:

Let's look at the "many" in your signature. It might have something (or everything) to do with your daughter's moving out.

It also may influence your worries about the wedding. If you can't afford the tab, then say so. Don't hide behind excuses that make HER feel guilty.—HELEN

Dear Rap:

I am an athletically built male, an honor student, and a homosexual. I'm writing, not for help, because I feel there's no help for me, but to tell your readers what it's like for many of us. In a word—LONELY!

I have always felt an attraction for the same sex. It really hurts when I hear people making fun of homosexuals, especially on some of the TV shows. I'm popular in school yet I pretend to be girl-shy because I feel so phony when I'm with a girl and can't really give her love. I could never go to bed with a male, so that leaves me—nothing, except my music. Sometimes I wonder what it would be like to love and be loved, and then I remember what I am and go back to feeling empty and all alone.

Fortunately, I have the piano. I sit down and play for hours and when I get up, I'm ready to face anything the world throws at me.

Now that I'm finished, it all seems so futile and stupid writing this. But then I wanted to explain, hoping that people will try to understand those who like me, are doomed to—A LIFE OF LONELINESS

Dear Lonely:

You need the assurance of a psychiatrist who will tell you that in today's society, the "different" aren't doomed unless they shoot themselves down with self-hatred. Call the Mental Health Clinic and make an appointment. Cost? Only what you can afford.—HELEN AND SUE

PROTECT BACK-COUNTRY

WASHINGTON (AP) — A trial program to protect some fragile back-country areas, by limiting each area's use to the number of persons it can accommodate without environmental damage, has been started in three national parks.

The three where it has started are Kings Canyon National Park in California, Rocky Mountain National Park in Colorado and Great Smoky Mountains National Park in Tennessee and North Carolina.

The progress applies only to the back-country of the three parks, not to normal visitor usage of developed areas within the parks.

Golfers meet

Twelve members of the Hope Ladies Golf Association met at the Hope Country Club on Thursday, July 13 with the president, Mrs. Jim Pruden, in charge. She welcomed two new members, Mrs. Jim Fry and Mrs. Brack Schenck.

SHEEP (ISH) DOG

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ronald Lapia pulled his car up to a spotlight in downtown Baltimore. His large English sheepdog was sitting in back.

A man walked up. "Does the dog bite?" he asked.

Lapia, 30, said the dog did not.

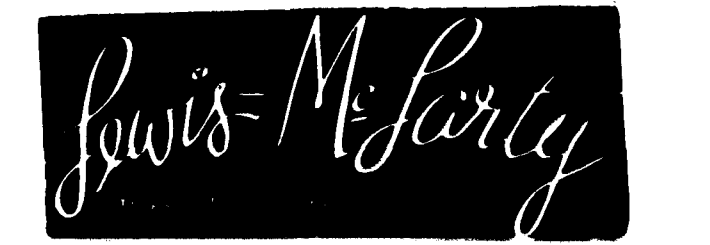

The man pulled out a pistol, forced Lapia and the dog out of the car and sped off.

TORONTO (AP) — Young Alexander Bryant McKecknie of Toronto sleeps in a cradle with an interesting history. About 25 years ago during a trip through Quebec, his grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Trudeau joins hockey dispute MONTREAL (AP) — An old political adversary took a run at Prime Minister Trudeau for being the third man, or possibly the fourth or fifth, to join the fight over Bobby Hull's participation in the Canada-Russia hockey series next September. "The trouble started when Trudeau got involved," said Alan Eagleson, legal counsel for the National Hockey League Players' Association and for a number of its more prominent members and a former national president of the Progressive Conservative party. At a news conference Monday night before his departure for Moscow with Coach Harry Sinden and other Team Canada officials to work out details of the four games to be played in the Russian city, Eagleson said the prime minister's intervention in the dispute was a political move.

Trudeau has appealed to NHL President Clarence Campbell and other interested parties to abandon their insistence that eligibility to join Team Canada be restricted to players who have signed a NHL contract when the team's training camp opens Aug. 13.

Since Hull has left the Chicago Black Hawks to sign a $2.5 million contract as play-in coach of the Winnipeg Jets of the World Hockey Association, the requirement effectively bars him from participating in the eight-game series.

Eagleson hinted that a solution might be worked out "if everybody cools their heels and things get to simmer down," but added that it would be unwise to attempt to force the NHL to lift its ban on Hull.

BOBBY HULL

SPECULATION

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Young Bob Allard is speculating on a career in professional golf. And well he might after winning a pressure-packed 18-hole playoff Sunday in the 47th annual National Public Links Golf Tournament. Allard, a stocky 23-year-old blond, challenged the tight fairways and hard greens at Coffin Golf Course Sunday and came away with a one-over-par 71. His opponent, Rick Schultz, a 22-year-old University of Nebraska golfer from Omaha, played well despite the muggy heat but slipped to a 74 as he parred 14 holes and bogeyed the other four.

Jr. Legion whips Salem

Sunday afternoon, the Jr. American Legion traveled to Little Rock for a game with Salem and returned with an 8-4 victory.

Hope started the scoring quickly getting a run in the first inning on a squeeze bunt by Bill Rowland scoring Paul Young from third. Hope scored two more in the second inning with Mike Downs and Richard Butler scoring on Rowland's double.

Leading off in the fourth inning, Mike Downs smashed a home run over the left field fence. This was Downs' first home run of the year. Salem scored one run in the seventh and three runs in the eighth to narrow the margin to an uncomfortable 5-4. But Hope lashed out four hits and three big runs in the ninth to win by the score of 8-4.

Leading hitter for Hope was Jim Fincher with two doubles and a triple. Bill Rowland drove in three runs with a bunt, single, and a double.

Richard Butler was the winning pitcher, winning his seventh game without a loss. Hope's next game will be Tuesday night starting at 8:00 against Camden. This game will be played at the City Park, because of the District Babe Ruth Tournament at Fair Park.

Friday night, the District American Legion opens at Sheridan. Hope's first opponent will be a highly ranked team from Benton. This game also will start at 8:00.

Gabriel is hospitalized

By EARL GERHEIM Associated Press Sports Writer Roman Gabriel's lung collapsed and—at least temporarily—has punctured the quarterback's strength of the Los Angeles Rams.

Gabriel, veteran of 10 National Football League seasons and star quarterback of the Los Angeles club, was hospitalized Monday as the first major casualty of preseason training.

His condition was diagnosed as a spontaneous pneumothorax of the right lung—a condition caused by rupturing of a small air cyst at the top of the lung. The attending physician, who asked not to be named, said the condition could afflict any healthy individual, regardless of physical activity.

Gabriel had been firing passes in the first drill of veteran players at the Rams' Long Beach State College training camp when he said: "I don't think I can practice any longer. I can't breathe."

First reports indicated Gabriel could be out from five weeks to the entire season. Later reports, however, said the former North Carolina standout could return to action within a month.

In Gabriel's absence, the signal-calling burdens have been delegated to reserves John Walton and Jerry Rhome.

Elsewhere around pro football, Speedy Duncan, the NFL's leading punt returner last season, was the only veteran who failed to report to the Washington Redskins' training quarters. Duncan will be fined $100 a day unless he produces a valid reason for his absence.

Cincinnati Bengals Coach Paul Brown, heartened by the experience and depth of his team, called Monday's session "the best first day we've had in five years of existence." Duane Thomas, the elusive, fleet-footed running back who sparked Dallas' drive to the Super Bowl championship last season, was still missing from the Cowboys' camp. Also absent was another Thomas—Bill Thomas, the team's No. 1 draft selection from Boston College, who hasn't yet signed a contract.

Lou Michaels, who hit on eight of 14 field goal attempts after being persuaded out of retirement last season, failed to report to the Packers' training site and Coach Dan Devine said the team probably would waive the veteran place kicker.

Michaels was listed behind rookie Chester Marcol and sophomore Tim Webster on the preseason depth chart.

Hope hosts tourney

Hope has been selected as the site of two important baseball tournaments, the Babe Ruth League District Tournament to be held July 14-22 currently underway and the State Little League Tournament to be held August 3 and 4.

The Babe Ruth Tournament, which will take place at Legion Field, will have six towns represented—Texarkana, Nashville, Arkadelphia, Malvern, Sheridan and Hope. Each town will enter two teams, a 15-year old team, and a 13-14 year old team. The 15 year old team will play double elimination, while the 13-14 year old team will play only single elimination. Two games will be played each day, except Sunday. The first game will begin at 6 p.m. and the second at 8:30 p.m.

Youth dreams of becoming wrestler

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — "I know there are some limitations in me," 14-year-old Mike McGinty concedes, but he is not about to give up his dream of becoming a top notch wrestler.

Even if he does have to crawl out of his wheelchair to get in position on the wrestling mats.

Mike was one of 30 wrestlers attending the Ohio School of Wrestling at the Hiram House camp in suburban Chagrin Falls this summer. His greatest "limitation" is being partially paralyzed.

"My goal is to wrestle for my high school team," said McGinty, who lives in Fairview Park but attends Greenbriar Junior High in Parma because the school has an elevator.

The 5-foot-6½, 130 pounder started wrestling this year and held a rummage sale in his garage to raise $40 toward wrestling camp.

"I sold off my clothes," he admitted. The Kiwanis Club gave him another $30 toward the camp costs.

"I can't stand up without my braces," said Mike, who also has suffered cerebral palsy, "but I can move around on my knees pretty fast."

"Wrestling is something I can compete in. I get tired but I keep on wrestling. I'm not an easy quitter."

McGinty's coach, Frank Fiore, says he's picked up enough so that he can at times show other youngsters what they are doing wrong.

"He gives the other kids a lot of inspiration," said Fiore. "He's something special."

Fiore said McGinty has about "75 per cent usage in the upper part of his body and none in the lower part." He has some problems with balance and coordination, and loss of use of his legs is a "great disadvantage."

But Fiore thinks that with McGinty's determination he has a chance of overcoming his handicaps sufficiently to wrestle in competition.

Snap... crackle... pop... pennant race falls apart

By HAL BOCK Associated Press Sports Writer Snap ... crackle ... pop.

That's not breakfast cereal you hear. That's three of baseball's four division pennant races falling apart.

All of a sudden, Oakland, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati have opened up healthy leads in their respective divisions and all three added to their margins on Monday's scarce schedule of games.

Oakland, rained out at Milwaukee Monday, picked up another half game on Chicago in the American League West as Detroit knocked off the White Sox 3-1 for Mickey Lolich's 16th victory. The A's now lead the division by a fat eight games.

Pittsburgh came from behind to whip Atlanta 6-5 with Willie Stargell driving in four runs. That gave the Pirates another half-game pickup on idle New York and a five-game bulge in the National League East.

Cincinnati belted Chicago 7-2 and when St. Louis nipped Houston 3-2, it widened the Reds NL West lead to six games over the slipping Astros.

The only race that still seems to have some life is in the American League East where Baltimore stayed one game behind Detroit by beating Texas 3-1.

In the only other game played Monday, Boston defeated California 4-1.

Cincinnati's race-horse Reds ripped 14 hits including Pete Rose's second home run of the season to batter the Cubs. It was the seventh consecutive victory for the NL West leaders.

The Reds hopped on loser Rick Reuschel, 3-3, for three runs in the fourth inning. Rose's homer came in the fifth and then the Reds added three wrapup runs in the sixth.

Wayne Simpson, 6-3, earned the victory with reliever Clay Carroll picking up his 21st save, tops in the majors.

Meanwhile, pursuing Houston dropped its fifth straight game as St. Louis and Bob Gibson overpowered the Astros. Gibson won his 10th straight game, striking out a season-high 13 batters including nine of 10 over one stretch.

Donn Clendenon's eighth inning homer snapped a tie and moved the Cardinals to the victory.

Willie Stargell slugged a three-run homer in the first inning and then snapped a 5-5 tie with a sacrifice fly in the eighth to beat Atlanta and reliever Joe Hoerner.

Lolich pitched his 16th complete game of the season, tops in the majors and struck out 11 White Sox batters, taking over the American League lead with 151 for the season.

Jim Northrup led the Tiger attack with a homer and triple as Detroit remained one game ahead of Baltimore.

Baltimore's Pat Dobson and Roric Harrison combined for a six-hitter, pitching the Orioles past Texas.

Danny Cater's two-run, two-out double in the sixth inning broke a tie and helped Boston past California. Then Cater doubled and scored Boston's final run on John Kennedy's single in the eighth.

Rookie Carlton Fisk homered for the Red Sox.

Colwell wins bowling tourney

HOUSTON (AP) — Air Force Sgt. Paul Colwell of Tucson, Ariz., surged into the lead Monday night and won the $37,500 Houston-Sertoma Open Bowling Tournament.

It was the second win in a row for Colwell, stationed at Davis Air Force Base in Tucson. The 23-year-old right-hander took first in an event there last week.

He beat out veteran pro bowler Jack Biondolillo of Houston to take the $4,000 first prize Monday night.

Going into the final game, Colwell held an 83-pin lead over Biondolillo and wrapped it up by downing the Houston pro 209 to 207 in a head-to-head game.

Alan Leavitt of New York, representing Speedy Crown's owner, Speedy Crown Stable, issued the challenge to Une de Mai, 1971 winner, and Fresh Yankee, 1970 victor.

Speedy Crown captured the International last Saturday with a length triumph over Fresh Yankee. Une de Mai was ordered scratched by the New York State Harness Racing Commission after the mare sustained tightened leg muscles following a workout Thursday.

Amarillo whips Travs

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Amarillo exploded for five runs in the third inning then throttled an Arkansas threat in the seventh to gain a 5-4 Texas League victory here Monday night.

All of Amarillo's runs came off loser Al Hrabrosky, but only two of the scores were earned. Leo Mazzone, the starter, received the victory.

Dick Allen heads All-Star team

American League All-Stars NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Allen, a two-time All-Star in the ational League, was the top vote-getter on the American League All-Star team announced today by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

The Chicago White Sox slugger, who leads the American League with 19 home runs and 61 runs batted in, received 1,092,758 of the 3,171,556 votes cast in the nationwide poll of fans. Allen, acquired from the Los Angeles Dodgers in a major winter trade, easily won the starting first base assignment over Detroit's Norm Cash, the runnerup with 729,753 votes.

Only one other player received more than one million votes. That was veteran third baseman Brooks Robinson of Baltimore, who easily got the nod at third base over Oakland's Sal Bando, 1,041,128 votes to 362,360.

The only team with more than one representative on the starting all-star team is the Boston Red Sox, who placed Luis Aparicio at shortstop and Carl Yastrzemski in the outfield. The 43rd annual All-Star Game will be played Tuesday night July 25 in Atlanta and will be nationally televised by NBC.

Joining Allen, Aparicio and Robinson in the starting infield will be Rod Carew of Minnesota, a starter for the sixth straight time. Carew polled 832,055 votes to 411,253 for runnerup Cookie Rojas of Kansas City.

Reggie Jackson of Oakland topped the outfielders in the voting with 902,421. Joining him in the starting outfield will be Yastrzemski, 603,151, and Bobby Murcer of New York, 506,241.

Detroit's Bill Freehan will be the starting catcher, having outpolled Cleveland's Ray Fosse 767,538 to 483,366.

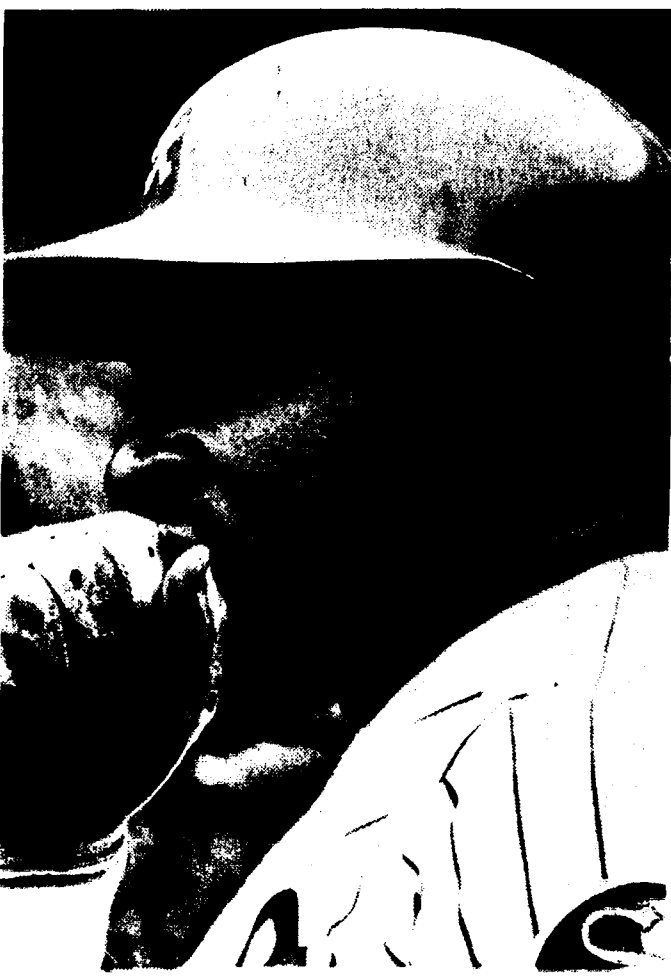

Carew, Aparicio, Robinson and Yastrzemski also were starters last year. Robinson is making his eighth all-star appearance, Freehan his sixth, Aparicio his fifth, Yastrzemski his fourth, Jackson his second and Murcer his second.

Allen was named to the starting team twice as a National Leaguer, once with the Philadelphia Phillies and once with the St. Louis Cardinals.

The National League's starting team, announced Monday, lists Lee May, Houston, first base; Joe Morgan, Cincinnati, second base; Joe Torre, St. Louis, third base; Don Kessinger, Chicago, shortstop; Johnny Bench, Cincinnati, catcher, and Hank Aaron, Atlanta, Roberto Clemente, Pittsburgh, and Willie Stargell, Pittsburgh, outfield.

Managers Danny Murtaugh of the National League and Earl Weaver of the American League will select the pitching staffs for their teams, as well as the reserves. They need not pick the runners-up in the fans balloting.

Murder conviction reversed by court

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An instruction drafted by the defense should have been given to the jury, the Arkansas Supreme Court said Monday, and, therefore, the court reversed the first-degree murder conviction of George Johnson Jr.

Johnson was convicted May 22, 1970, in Pulaski County Circuit Court for the shooting death of Miss Vicki Siscoe at her family's Little Rock home.

She was struck by bullets from two weapons, one a .22-caliber pistol and the other a

.38-caliber pistol, during an apparent gunfight between her father and an intruder. The father was armed with a .38-caliber weapon.

The state medical examiner testified that the girl's death was caused by a large-caliber weapon, such as a .38-caliber bullet exhibited to him at the trial.

Johnson, himself struck twice by bullets, testified that he did not have a gun of any kind while at the Johnson house, but that another intruder, Eddie Jackson, did. Fingerprints found on the .22-caliber weapon were not Johnson's.

Johnson was charged under Arkansas law providing that when persons engage in felonious actions that lead to the death of innocent parties, all of the persons participating in the original act are guilty of the death that results.

Steele Hays, who presided at Johnson's trial, rejected an instruction the defense had offered for delivery to the jury.

The instruction said: "In order that one may be guilty of a homicide, the act must be done by him actually or constructively, and that cannot be unless the crime be committed by his own hands or by hands of someone acting in concert with him, or in furtherance of a common object or purpose.

The Supreme Court said the instruction should have been given to the jury, although Associate Justice John A. Fogleman, who wrote the court's opinion, said the state likely then would have proposed an instruction clarifying that it was not necessary that Johnson fire the shot that caused the death or have knowledge or intent that the victim would be placed in danger.

Increase in state tomato crop seen

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Federal crop estimates show that tomato production in Arkansas is expected to increase this year by 15 per cent over last year.

However, production of apples, peaches, watermelons and snap beans are expected to be below 1971 yields, according to the federal Agriculture Department's Arkansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

The fresh market tomato crop is expected to total 418,000 hundredweight on about 3,800 acres. Some 3,300 acres were harvested last year. The 1972 yield-per acre is approximately 110 hundredweight, the same as in 1971.

About 7.9 million pounds of apples are expected to be harvested, down 8 per cent from last year. Peaches are expected to total 42 million pounds, down 2 per cent from last year but up 5 per cent from 1970.

The 480,000 hundredweight of watermelons forecast for Arkansas this year is about 4 per cent less than the 1971 total. Acreage for harvest is below 1971, but yield per acre is higher.

Arkansas' production of snap beans for processing is expected to total 7,350 tons this year, down 12 per cent from a year ago. Both acreage and expected yield are below last year.

The state's Irish potato crop is forecast at 91,000 hundredweight, same as last year.

U.S. company signs pact to supply Russia

LONDON (AP) — The Occidental Petroleum Co. announced today that it has signed an agreement with the Soviet government to supply the Russians a wide range of scientific and technical services.

Informants in London estimated the value of the contract as high as $3 billion and said it was the biggest ever signed by a U.S. corporation with the Soviets.

Dr. Armand Hammer, the 72-year-old chairman of Occidental, told a news conference the agreement was signed in Moscow on July 14. He said it covers a five-year period and is renewable by mutual consent.

Hammer, who first did business with the Soviets shortly after the Bolshevik Revolution, said the contract covers five areas:

1. The exploration, production and usage of oil and natural gas in the Soviet Union.
2. Production of agricultural fertilizers and chemicals.
3. Metal treatment and metal plating.
4. The design and building of hotels in the Soviet Union.
5. The use of solid waste materials.

"The agreement is not restricted to the five areas mentioned," Hammer said, "but permits development in other areas at any time by mutual accord."

The agreement also provides for compensations for the transfer of scientific and technological know-how the sale of patents and the sale of licenses, Hammer continued.

Hammer pointed out that his company's deal with the Soviet government was one of the first developments to follow in the wake of President Nixon's agreement during his Moscow visit two months ago for U.S.-Soviet cooperation in the fields of science and technology.

"In 51 years of dealing with the Soviet government," said Hammer, "I have never found the grounds more favorable for the rapid expansion of East-West trade than exists at present."

Occidental's chairman gave no indication of his financial arrangements with the Soviets, but some experts speculated that payment would be in crude oil and gas from the Siberian fields.

Rumors of the agreement circulated in Europe on Monday, and soon after they reached New York trading in Occidental's stock was halted on the New York and West Coast stock exchanges.

Trading resumed on the West Coast after the New York market closed. In 2 1/2 hours the stock jumped 19 per cent, from 12 1/2 to 15 1/4 on a volume of 116,300 shares.

London's Financial Times reported before Hammer's announcement that Occidental was expected to head a consortium of U.S. oil and gas companies that would assist in the development of the Tyumen fields in Western Siberia.

There was speculation in London that this consortium would help build a 4,000-mile pipeline from the Siberian field to a coastal terminal.

Dr. Hammer refused to be pinned down on the areas to be developed, saying "our geologists will make a study of all the potential areas in the Soviet Union."

He promised, however, that his company would keep the public informed from time to time on what he called the biggest East-West deal so far.

Motion denied in air piracy case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A U.S. District Court judge has denied a motion to dismiss an air piracy indictment against Ricardo Chavez-Ortiz and warned both defense and prosecution attorneys he'll issue a gag order if either discusses the case with news media.

"We're going to have a nice quiet, peaceful trial here," said Judge Charles H. Carr Monday after denying a motion by defense attorney Michael Hannon to dismiss the charges against his client.

Hannon had said there was improper representation on the federal grand jury which indicted the 36-year-old Mexican national.

Chavez-Ortiz is accused of hijacking a Frontier Airlines jet over New Mexico.

Model airplane wizard designs a fighter jet

WAYNE, Pa. (AP) — A teenage model airplane wizard has designed and submitted to Boeing Co. a plan for a fighter jet that could fly 2,400 miles per hour.

The company's Wichita, Kan., division told 13-year-old John Stroman his design seems "flyable"—and sent him a job application form for use when he gets old enough.

"I've been interested in planes and astronomy for five years," he said Monday at his home here. "Originally, I wanted to be a pilot, but because of my sight I now want to be an aircraft designer."

John, who will be a ninth grader at Valley Forge Junior High next fall, said his plane was intended to replace the 1,500 m.p.h. Phantom F-4, America's workhorse jet in Vietnam.

The craft would have a longer range and more varied ordinance, and a new radar system that would make it "less susceptible to Communist missiles," he said.

John's plane, which he has designated the SR-88A, is a delta-wing model whose tremendous speed capability would come from "turbo-fan engines."

He has had no formal training in his work he said, but has done extensive reading and has built 40 model airplanes from scratch.

Richard Holloway, Boeing's chief of technology research at Wichita, was impressed with the boy's letter and drawings.

"Reading his letter, you see he has the two things you need to ahead—confidence in himself and enthusiasm," Holloway said. "It's all so reasonable. It is a flyable design."

"We get designs all the time, but they aren't really practical. Such things as four engines, but there are no engine outlets shown, or a 1,000-passenger supersonic transport which is rocket-powered. Everything this kid did added up."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Health, Education and Welfare Department has approved a grant of $66,814 to the University of Arkansas Graduate School of Social Work, Fayetteville, for a one-year project in social work training.

Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt, R-Ark., announced Monday that the grant had been approved.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — "I think we're going to be better off for this," Lt. Gov. Bob Riley said here Monday of the reorganization of the Democratic party and the nominating of Sen. George McGovern as presidential candidate.

Riley termed the development a "healthful one."

He spoke to about 160 people who attended a fund-raising luncheon in behalf of his Democratic candidacy for a second term.

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP) — Ground was broken here Monday to mark the start of construction of a major seed processing addition to the Jacob Hartz Seed Co. Inc. facility.

Jake Hartz, president, said the project would represent an investment of more than $1 million and that the new facility would have bulk seed storage area for 500,000 bushels and warehouse space for 200,000 bushels sacked.

MURFREESBORO, (AP) — Ralph Clutter of Waldo, Ohio, who has visited the Crater of Diamonds here several times, paid the usual $2 fee to search for diamonds Monday and found a 3.34 carat white stone.

Kathryn McCarty, facilities manager, said it was "a nice one, a real nice one, a nice fat stone."

The only diamonds in North America are found in the Murfreesboro area.

Mutt testifies in his defense

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Sen. Guy H. Jones of Conway testified in his defense Monday that he never "deliberately, intentionally or knowingly signed a false income tax form."

Jones is on trial in U. S. District Court here on charges of tax evasion and filing false federal income tax returns for the years 1965 and 1966.

Jones said his only mistake may have been in not taking the Internal Revenue Service investigation seriously enough when it began in 1968.

He said he jokingly told IRS agents at the beginning of the investigation that "the only things they'd find hidden away were the fees of $500,000 or more." He said he had never received a fee approaching that size.

Jones also denied step-by-step charges that he failed to list more than $25,000 in legal fees on his returns.

As Leon B. Catlett, Jones' attorney, read from a government-prepared list that purported to show each fee Jones allegedly failed to report on his return, Jones explained why each entry had not been listed as a legal fee. Many of the sums listed by the government actually were not fees, Jones said.

He said they were reimbursements for expenses or loans paid out during the course of his client's cases. In other cases, he said, the sum cited by the government as unreported fees actually were judgments that had been paid directly to him instead of to his clients, and he had simply endorsed the checks over to the clients to whom the judgments were due.

In one case, Jones said, the IRS contended that he had failed to report a $1,750 fee paid to him in 1965 by Raye Hockenbury, 67, of Conway for legal representation in a suit resulting from an automobile accident. "I lost a hundred dollars on Mr. Hockenbury," Jones said.

Jones said he had secured a $3,500 settlement for Hock-enbury from an insurance company and had given Hockenbury a check for $3,000 that was labeled "in full payment" of the claim. Of the $500 he kept, Jones said, $200 went to a doctor who had examined Hockenbury and the remaining $300 he kept as a legal fee.

Later, Jones said, while a related legal matter was still pending, he gave Hockenbury $400 as an advance on a judgment in the related case. Jones said the judgment had been received but never had been paid by the defendants so he still is $100 in the hole on the Hockenbury case.

Hockenbury stated last week that he split the $3,500 judgment evenly with Jones.

The IRS also contended that a $2,500 fee to Jones from George Covinton of Conway in an auto accident case had not been reported on Jones' income tax return for 1965. Jones said that in that case his actual fee was $1,500 and that he had reported that amount. He had received $2,500 from Covinton but $200 of that amount went to pay an expert witness who testified at the trial of the suit; $100 was used to pay an off-duty policeman for pretrial investigations and the remaining $700 went to a consulting attorney, Jones said.

"I made $1,500 for the office on that case," Jones said. "That additional thousand dollars is not correct."

Jones, with Catlett guiding him to the extent that Judge J. Smith Henley warned Catlett about leading the witness, went through every alleged unreported fee occurring in 1965, and also discounted an exhibit the IRS contended was a list compiled by Jones at its request of all his reported fees in 1965.

By using what Catlett called the "adjusted" figures—the figures as corrected by Jones, the resulting fee total was just $500 larger than the total actually recorded by Jones on his income tax returns.

Material witness in murder case held by police

NEW YORK (AP) — Thomas "Tommy Ryan" Eboli's chauffeur was held in lieu of $250,000 bond today as a material witness to the gangland shooting of the caretaker Mafia chief on a quiet Brooklyn street.

The driver, Joseph Sternfeld, 53, walked into a Brooklyn police station Monday and admitted he was present when Eboli was shot to death early Sunday. But detectives said he was evasive when questioned.

Sternfeld said he did not see the killer or killers because he ducked underneath the dashboard of the blue 1971 Cadillac when the shooting started, police reported.

The car turned up Monday in the garage of Eboli's new mansion in Fair Lawn, N.J. There were bullet holes in the roof and in the driver's seat and blood on the passenger side of the dashboard.

Police said Sternfeld told them he drove the car back to New Jersey after seeing Eboli lying dead on the sidewalk. "I didn't see anything, I don't know what happened, I just heard the shots fired," he was quoted as saying.

Eboli, 61, became the 15th known victim of a gangland-style rubout since the shooting of Joseph A. Colombo, Sr., on June 28, 1971. There have been nine such deaths since April.

Satellite launch set Friday

By VERN HAUGLAND
AP Aviation Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A complex satellite to be launched next Friday may help keep track of cities' growth, prepare crop forecasts, make better maps and spot good fishing spots, the national space agency says.

ERTS-A, the first earth resources technology satellite, is scheduled to be launched from the Western Test Range at Lompoc, Calif. The 1,965-pound spacecraft will orbit the earth 14 times a day at an altitude of 570 miles.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the satellite may help the Bureau of the Census keep track of urban sprawl, the Agriculture Department prepare more accurate crop forecasts, the Geological Survey produce more useful and up-to-the-moment maps.

It may also enable the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to help the fisheries industry locate troubled waters and those areas where the catches will be good.

ERTS-A is a complex project, with about 300 investigators from 43 states and 31 foreign countries involved.

At a NASA briefing, James Wray, Geological Survey senior geologist for the satellite program, told how ERTS data can contribute to the Census Cities project by providing photographs of week-to-week, month-to-month urban changes.

Scientists will study ERTS data on the nine-county area around San Francisco in estimating water use requirements in California and in mapping of open spaces for county planning, Wray said.

A real estate firm plans to use ERTS data in looking at the San Francisco area with an eye to new town development, he said.

Urban growth changes in more than two dozen other city areas, including New Orleans, Washington, D.C., Cedar Rapids, Iowa, New Haven, Conn., and Boston, also will be studied.

Dr. Bruce Kelly, director of standards and research for the Department of Agriculture, said, "ERTS coverage will be very broad and very rapid. We are most enthusiastic, and expect that in the area of crop surveys it will provide a most valuable supplement to the information we gather from other sources."

Kelly said the initial areas to be studied intensively by ERTS-A are one or two sectors of 100 square miles each in Missouri, South Dakota, Idaho and Kansas.

William Stevenson of NOAA said the satellite would be used by his agency to study a little-known but important industrial fish in one area, but he added the knowledge obtained will be applicable to fisheries in other areas.

The study will deal with menhaden, a small fish common in the Gulf of Mexico and on the Atlantic seaboard, and widely used as a poultry feed additive, Stevenson said.

In the Mississippi Sound area from New Orleans to Mobile Bay and including the Barrier Islands 10 miles offshore, the satellite will study water and ground quality.

Source is identified

NEW YORK (AP) — A spokesman for Ramparts magazine has identified Perry Fellwock, a 26-year-old antiwar activist from San Diego, Calif., as the key source for an article on electronic intelligence-gathering activities of the National Security Agency.

The article said the NSA, headquartered at Ft. Meade, Md., can crack all Russian codes and thus enable the U.S. to pinpoint the locations of Soviet military and space craft.

The magazine spokesman, Marc Stone, said Monday that Fellwock and Ramparts editors would appear in a news conference scheduled for 1:30 p.m. EDT today at the Ramparts office in Berkeley, Calif.

The article, appearing in the August issue of Ramparts which reached newstands Monday, was based on an interview with a person identified in print as Winslow Peck.

Peck was described as a former NSA communications analyst who had worked in Istanbul and in Indochina before quitting the agency because of disillusionment with the Vietnam war.

Stone said "Winslow Peck" was not a pseudonym selected specially for the article but instead was a name that Fellwock had been using for about two years "to protect his family from embarrassment from his antiwar activities."

Ramparts is a liberal monthly magazine which features investigative articles. Also Monday, Asst. U.S. Atty. E. Mac Amos in San Diego said a man who identified himself as Winslow Peck was arrested during an antiwar demonstration there April 21 and in court later gave his name as Perry Fellwock.

Subsidy to farms sweetened

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sweetened billion-dollar farm subsidy plan by the Nixon administration is expected to bite into huge surplus stockpiles, next year even if the Soviet Union decides not to buy any U.S. bread grain.

The plan, announced Monday by the Agriculture Department, could pay farmers about $1.1 billion for trimming wheat acreage next year, a record high subsidy for the crop and about $100 million more than payments for 1972.

It is basically the same as for this year, but includes additional incentives to entice more acres from wheat production. The basic government price support loan will remain unchanged at $1.25 per bushel.

A department spokesman, noting the build up of wheat surpluses to the highest level in nearly a decade, told reporters the 1973 acreage "set-aside" program benefits could run $100 million more than the billion spent on payments this year.

"It was drawn up without taking into consideration the possibility of the Soviet sale," Glenn A. Weir, deputy administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service said.

Weir referred to a recently announced $750 million sale of U.S. grain to the Soviets over the next three years.

"But if exports, and sales to the Soviet Union materialize, then farmers stand to gain and cost to the government will be lower," he said.

The program is keyed partly to markets, meaning that if farmers get higher prices for cash sales they will rely less on government payments.

The program is aimed at taking 25 million acres from wheat production next year, compared with about 20 million idled this harvest.

Boyling it down

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks people get tired of hearing when they come back from a vacation:

"Have you been away?" "You didn't get much of a tan, did you?" "You missed the best weather of the year while you were away."

"I'd like to hear all about your vacation, but I guess it'll have to wait until I get back. I'm leaving on my own vacation in half an hour."

"You put on a few pounds, didn't you?" "Oh, is that where you went? We stayed there year before last. Is it still as terrible as ever?"

"It's a good thing you came back so soon, George. That guy who filled in for you did a great job."

"Think of all the things you could buy now if you'd just stayed home and saved your money."

"Your children behaved like perfect little angels, but I'm glad you're back. Your daughter has the mumps and your son broke his collar bone yesterday, and right now he's getting pretty fretful."

"I knew I'd left one of the gas jets on the stove burning. It has been burning for two whole weeks. Heaven knows what our gas bill will be this month."

"We missed you, George. But that new guy who filled in for you is an awful nice guy, too."

"I didn't even notice you'd gone until yesterday."

"The first thing I found in the mail this morning was a letter from that vacation lodge saying they had undercharged us $124.50, and asking you to send a check for that amount by return mail. Can they do that to us?"

"I know you said you had a fine time on your vacation, but tell me, what was it really like?"

"Of course, I want to hear about your vacation. But first I want to tell you about mine."

"You look tired. What you need is a vacation from your vacation."

"We'd love to come over and see the pictures you took on your vacation, George. Shall we make it next month sometime?"

"You picked a great time to come back. The worst heat wave of the season is supposed to start tomorrow."

"The guy who filled in for you bought the state lottery ticket you'd bought if you were here. He won a $1,000 consolation prize."

Work force jumps in '71

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The work force in Arkansas rose 23,800 in 1971 to a record high of 745,800, according to J. Merle Lemley, administrator of the state Employment Security Division.

Nearly all the new workers were in the nonagricultural sector of the economy. The number of agricultural workers increased only from 58,400 to 58,600.

The factory work week in 1971 increased from 39.8 hours in 1970 to 39.9 in 1971, and hourly earnings of factory production workers increased from $2.48 in 1970 to $2.63 in 1971.

Congress moving to intensify attacks on killer diseases

By CARL C. CRAFT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is moving to intensify attacks on America's chief killer and communicable diseases despite Nixon administration opposition to key parts of the billion-dollar battle plans.

Two comprehensive health-fund authorization bills, similar to measures which the Senate passed without dissent, were due for House action today.

One would provide a three-year, $1.29 billion program aimed at curbing heart, blood vessel, lung and blood diseases—America's leading killers. The other would extend the communicable disease control program for three years under a $270 million plan to combat venereal diseases, German measles and tuberculosis.

The heart bill is envisioned as a companion to the recently enacted $1.6 billion anti-cancer law. The Senate's version of the heart legislation authorizes $1.47 billion over three years, about double the present rate of spending. The Senate-passed bill on communicable diseases contains a five-year authorization of $759 million.

The House Commerce Committee approved a more conservative funding level in both bills but retained several organizational features such as grants to states and local communities in the communicable disease control bill, and the handling of research and treatment programs through federal facilities in the fight against heart and lung diseases.

The administration has opposed organizational features of the legislation and contends the earmarking of funds would limit flexibility. It objected to the categorical grant programs on grounds there is sufficient legal power already available for control of communicable disease.

The key features of the heart bill include creating new research centers, speeding up the federal grant process, setting up a national heart and lung advisory group, and requiring a national plan covering a wide range of prevention and research programs.

The communicable disease control bill would focus $150 million on venereal disease, which officials call an epidemic. Reported cases of gonorrhea rose from 260,468 in 1962 to 624,371 in 1971.

Frank Sinatra HSCC witness

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank Sinatra marched grimly into a House Select Crime Committee room today and accused the committee of indecently and irresponsibly letting a convicted felon "bandy my name about."

"It was character assassination, let's face it," the retired crooner told a jammed hearing room.

Sinatra said the committee should have immediately refuted the testimony of Joseph (The Baron) Barboza May 24 that the singer had been a front man for La Cosa Nostra money in the Fontainebleau and Sands Hotels in Miami Beach and Las Vegas.

"This bum went running off at the mouth and I resent and I won't have it," Sinatra said. "I'm not a second class citizen. Let's make that clear."

"How do you repair the damage that was printed in the newspapers?" he demanded.

Committee counsel Joseph Phillips said Barboza unexpectedly made the charge about fronting for the mobs in the two hotels when he was asked about a completely unrelated matter at the May 24 hearing.

Phillips said the answer could not have been anticipated or cut off and noted that the Fontainebleau had filed an affidavit with the committee denying the story.

"And at that point someone, presumably the counsel, should have done something to refute that story," Sinatra said. He suggested the committee should have called the press in and announced the hotel's statement.

"I don't have to refute it because there isn't any truth to it," Sinatra said of the Fontainebleau story at another point. As for his purchase of stock in the Sands hotel in 1963, he said that was bought "with my own money."

The huge House caucus room was jammed with spectators and at least 200 people waited outside as Sinatra began testifying.

There were several squeals of recognition reminiscent of his crooner days as he came down a corridor, moving unsmilingly and quickly toward the committee room.

Industrial production is on rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Industrial production rose slightly during June, the Federal Reserve Board announced, but the increase was insufficient to spark a sharp acceleration of the economy.

The board made its announcement Monday as the Nixon administration imposed wage price controls on some 62,000 small lumber companies and the Federal Reserve put the brakes on the increase in the nation's money supply.

The industrial production index rose 0.3 per cent in June. The increase was not substantial enough to indicate the sharp acceleration of the country's economy that has been forecast by the administration for the second half of the current year.

The June increase matched the May increase, but both were off from the April advance of 1 per cent. The index measures output of the nation's factories, mines and utilities and is designed to provide sensitive information on the performance of the economy.

The Cost of Living Council reimposed wage-price controls on small lumber companies in an effort to restrain rising lumber prices.

Small lumber companies previously were exempted from wage-price controls as part of a general exemption which was granted May 1 for companies employing fewer than 60 persons.

AP, Hsinhua discussing exchange

NEW YORK (AP) — Discussions are going forward between the The Associated Press and Hsinhua, the Chinese News Agency, on an agreement for the exchange of news and photos.

Wes Gallagher, president of The Associated Press, is on his way to Peking for the talks, which followed several months of preliminary negotiations in New York.

Also going to Peking is Paul Miller, chairman of The AP, and chairman and chief executive officer of the Gannett newspapers.

The party includes Henry Hartzenbusch, chief of AP's Asian services in Tokyo, and Horst Faas, Pulitzer prize-winning AP photographer.

Miller and Gallagher, accompanied by their wives, left New York for the Far East on July 12. The group was invited for a two-week visit to Communist China. The visit is expected to start Wednesday.
